THE DEADLY RATTLESNAKE.

So Known Cure for the Bite of the Genu-In. Article.

"Out of a thousand people bitten by rattlesnakes," said E. D. Bourne, of Palm Springs, to a Pomona (Cal.) Progress man, "I am sure that not fifty ever really recover. So far as I know, and I have posted myself thoroughly upon the subject for over twenty years on the desert and in Arizona and Texas, there is no known cure for rattlesnake poison, in spite of the fact that many people have said that they were cured by whisky. You may depend upon it that, when a man says he was cured of a rattlesnake bite, though not necessarily a liar, he i at least laboring under a misapprehension of the facts. There is a small snake similar to the rattlesnake in appearance, whose poison is not so venomous, and negroes bitten by it place lime upon the spot or else drink enough whisky to counteract the poison. Whisky, if taken in a large quantity, goes directly into the blood and counteracts the poison of the snake. But the regular Arizona rattler, from five to seven feet in length, is a deadly customer to meet. It does not give any warning, but strikes the moment it | profit. is disturbed, and it can strike an object almost twice as far distant as it

It required considerable kicking to shake that snake off, and when he was finally got rid of he started in pursuit. My friend had faced bullets in the army with nonchalance, but his hair stood on end when he saw that snake coming, and he jammed spurs to his nag and didn't stop until he had gone a quarter stretch. He knew as well as I what an awfel thing rattlesnake poison is. He lost two men in one us happiness, and often has strange, month from rattlers. My ranch is literally full of rattlesnakes, and only last week my hands killed twenty-six in a field of twenty acres."

In 1858 A. S. Maltby, who for many years has lived at Woody, opened a gold mine lying in the ridge between White River and Rag Guich, in Kern County, and from it extracted a good deal of gold, says the Bakersfield Californian. When water was struck the ground was stopped above, and then work ceased. Mr. Maltby, however, always felt confident that there was an abundance of rich rock still deeper down in the vein, and recently, with other parties, started a shaft and tunnel to tap the mine below the old workings. The pay chute is found to be about sixty feel long with a vein from five to twenty-four inches wide and at present carrying a seam of ore about five inches thick that will mill over $300 a ton in gold. Mr. Maltby has brought samples here. The quartz is lively and carries seams of oxide of irou which are literally full of gold. The specimens are very handsome and withal of good size. The groun 1 from the tunnel to the old works has been stoped out, the last run of thirty-eight tons yielding 22t ounces of gold bullion, valued at $2,752, or over $73 per ton. In this run there was no assorting, all of the quartz that was mined being sent to mill. In the bottom of the tunnel the ledge continues as good as above, the rich seam especially well holding its own. There seems to be no reason why this mine should not yield a handsome

The Mistake of Indoor Life.

"Basking in the sun" is in itself of real and considerable benefit, and it is no compliment to our human intelligence to find that cats an I dogs understand that fact much better than wo do. Even which penetrated its colored medium. The love of sunshine is naturally one of our strongest instincts, and we should be far healthier and happier if we followed and developed it instead of practically ignoring and repressing it. How a sparkling, sunny merning exhibarates us and makes us feel that "It's too fine a day to stay indoors," and yet how few holidays are taken for that reason! The wealth of the sunbeams is poured out lavishly all around us, and we turn from it to struggle for a few pitiful handfuls of something else that is yellow and shining, but not half so likely to bring red spots upon it. Give nature a chance, and we shall find that there is more than a mere fanciful connection between natural sunlight and that "sunny disposition which, after all, is the true "philosopher's stone.

As to whether any of the baking powders are equal to the "Royal," the official tests clearly determine. When samples of various baking powders were purchased from the grocers, and analyzed by the United States Government Chemists and the Chemists of State and City Boards of Health, the reports revealed the fact that the "Royal" contained from 28 per cent, to 60 per cent, more leavening strength than the others, and also that it was more perfectly combined, absolutely pure, and altogether wholesome.

As most of these powders are sold to consumers at the same price as the "Royal," by the use of the Royal Baking Powderthere is an average saving of over one third, besides the advantage of assured purity and wholesomeness of food, and of bread, biscuit and cake made perfectly light, sweet, and palatable.

The official reports also reveal the presence, in other powders, of alum, lime or sulphuric acid, by which their use is made a matter of grave danger to the consumer.

Whenever a baking powder is sold at a lower price than the "Royal," or with a gift, it is a certain indication that it is made from alum, and is to be avoided under all circumstances.

It furnished the courageous judge who tried Hall, eight of the jury who convicted him, and the captain and two-thirds of the guard who saw the sentence executed. Three years ago Big Stone Cap was the worst spot in this bad region. It was settled then by young blue grass Kentuckians and Eastern Virginians, "furriners," as the mountain people call them. They represent the best blood in both states, and most of them are graduates of the three big Eastern colleges and one Southern university. It was the habit of "toughs" to come into the town and gallop through the streets, firing their pistols right and left, while the storekeepers shut up shop and went to the woods. These young Kentuckians and Virginians settled at Big Stone Gap, organized themselves into a volunteer police force, equipped with revolvers, billies, and whistles.
